

World Music Pedagogy Workshop for K-12 Music Teachers

Presented as part of the 2013 Society for Ethnomusicology Annual Meeting

Date: Saturday, November 16, 2013 from 8:30 am – 12:30 pm

Location: Indianapolis Marriott Downtown,

350 W. Maryland Street, Indianapolis, 46225

The Education Section of the Society for Ethnomusicology is pleased to announce a one-day workshop for Pre-K through 12th grade music teachers, students of music education, and those interested in the broad sweep of world music pedagogy at every level, at the Indianapolis Marriott Downtown on Saturday, November 16th, from 8:30 am to 12:30 pm.

The workshop will provide teachers with hands-on experiences in teaching the world's music from leaders in ethnomusicology, world music pedagogy and cultural diversity in music education. Information presented and the materials provided are intended specifically for classroom use. Please come prepared to sing, play and move. For more information please see the following links below. Questions can be directed via email to co-chairs of the education section, Ramona Holmes, ramonaho@spu.edu and Sarah Bartolome, sbartolome@lsu.edu.

Registration:

<http://www.indiana.edu/~semhome/2013/registration.shtml>

(Please register for the "One-day Saturday 11/16 AM" rate, which is a heavily reduced daily rate)

The Society for Ethnomusicology:

<http://www.ethnomusicology.org/>

SEM Education Section Information:

http://www.personal.psu.edu/acc13/blogs/SEM_Education/

Featured ethnomusicologists include:

Patricia Shehan Campbell (Repatriating Teachers: Walking the Lomax Collection Back to the Mississippi Hill), Sarah Watts (Ka Pilina: Community and Connection), Matt Swanson (Culture Bearers in the Classroom), Colleen Haas & Amy Smith (Music & Inclusivity: Supporting Youth through Afro-Brazilian Pedagogy) Ramona Holmes & Sarah Bartolome (Singing Revolution of Estonia and Latvia) and Mellonee Burnim (Gospel Singing with Sheri Garrison)

Please join us for a wonderful morning of world music and culture